

Cert IV in Youth Work

This qualification provides a pathway to work with young people in a range of government, community and youth sector agencies. You will be trained to develop and facilitate programs for young people to address their social, behavioural, health, welfare, developmental and protection needs. You will develop skills to work effectively with young people from diverse backgrounds within a community development framework.

The course structure allows you to choose elective units to develop skills in specific areas including developing networks and facilitating responsible behaviour. The course is delivered online and you can gain real, on the job experience throughout your training.
